

ECOHEALTH

Volume 1, Number 4

2004

EDITORIAL

Ecohealth and the Developing World 325

Jean Lebel

COVER ESSAY

Habitat of Tibetan Nature and Culture 327

Xu Jianchu, Li Bo, and David Waltner-Toews

In This Issue 330

What's New? 332

PROFILES

Championing Ecosystem Sustainability and Health: Profile and Tribute to the Life and Work of James Kay (1954-2004) 334

David Waltner-Toews, Martin J. Bunch, Cynthia Neudoerffer, Margot Parkes, and Henry David Venema

ORIGINAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Reintegrating Coastal Development and Public Health in Western Australia 340

Marisa Gilles, David Galloway, Pierre Horwitz, and Ann Larson

Risk of Disease Transmission between Conservation Personnel and the Mountain Gorillas: Results from an Employee Health Program in Rwanda 351

The Mountain Gorilla Veterinary Project 2002 Employee Health Group

Leukocyte Profiles in Wild House Finches with and without Mycoplasmal Conjunctivitis, a Recently Emerged Bacterial Disease 362

Andrew K. Davis, Katherine C. Cook, and Sonia Altizer

Development and Application of a Framework for Analyzing the Impacts of Urban Transportation 374

Josh Marko, Colin L. Soskolne, John Church, Louis H. Francescutti, and Mark Anielski

Dry-season Mosquito Breeding Associated with Irrigation in the Northeast Kimberley Region of Western Australia: Potential Impact on Mosquito-borne Disease Transmission 387

Andrew Jardine, Michael Lindsay, Jane Heyworth, and Philip Weinstein

SHORT COMMUNICATIONS

Precautionary Health Risk Assessment: Case Study of Biological Insecticides 399

Simon Hales

Outfoxing a Rash: Clinical Example of Human-Wildlife Interaction 404

Peter M. Rabinowitz and Zimra Gordon

On the Cover: Habitat of Tibetan Nature and Culture, by Tibetan artist Lobsang Kedrup. See the Cover Essay, "Habitat of Tibetan Nature and Culture," by Xu Jianchu, Li Bo, and David Waltner-Toews, EcoHealth 1:327-329, 2004. Reproduced with the permission of the artist, and of the Center for Biodiversity and Indigenous Knowledge, for whom the artwork was designed.

The EcoHealth Editors acknowledge the Guest Editorial Team for EcoHealth Volume 1, Supplement 1, "Ecosystem Health in Professional Curriculum." The following details about the team were inadvertently excluded from the Table of Contents of the issue:

Guest Editors: David J. Rapport, Victoria Lee, John Howard

Supplement Managing Editor: Jennifer Hounsell